How to read the profile cards

- The coloured strip along the side of each card indicates the category.

- The grey line shows origin · type · year. The year is left out where there is no single, clear date.
- Origin is the country of origin of the service or organisation. "International" indicates multinational organisations; "Community" indicates projects with no defined national base.

About the symbols: the coloured squares with letters are illustrative monograms, created to identify each site on the map, and are not official logos, which are registered trademarks of their owners.

Version 1.1: The Economist, UOL Notícias and the Games category (Poki, 100jogos, Click Jogos and Monou) come in. The Guardian, Al Jazeera, Agência Brasil, Europol and OpenBSD go out. The Games sites have origin and website to be confirmed. Sites are cited by name only, without the folder identifier.

About the information: sites change name, ownership and the way they work, and the details are informative summaries, not endorsements. Confirm important details on the official websites.
